

VISIT TO THE MAYOR'S YARD

SUMMARY

The Mayor's Yard, known in Danish as Borgmestergården is a respectable half-timbered building with three wings and plenty of room. The building is a prime example of a merchant house from the Renaissance. The house was built in 1601 by mayor and merchant Mads Lerche. In 2016, it was completely renovated and is more beautiful than ever before. The guide will give an introduction to Borgmestergården, its history and the Lerche family.

The introduction takes approx. 20 minutes, after which the guest can walk around on their own and experience the museum and the shop.

ADD ON

It is possible to add the following: Historical costumes, a living exhibition: Experience Nyborg Slots Dragtlaug's replicas of original historical costumes from the Middle Ages and the Renaissance. All suits are sewn by hand according to the craftsmanship of the Middle Ages. The organization is working on upcoming costumes for the annual medieval festival in Nyborg - Danehof 2024. In addition, it will be possible to see exhibited suits from some of the former festivals. It is possible to ask questions to the seamstress along the way.

FUN FACT

During the visit, the guests will be presented with food tastings in Det gule køkken ('the yellow kitchen'), where food is prepared on an old cast iron stove.
