

VISIT THE LADBY VIKING MUSEUM

SUMMARY

In the center of the Denmark on the historical island of Fyn lies a peculiar monument which tells the story of a mysterious Viking King buried in Denmark's only known Viking Ship grave, more than a 1,000 years ago. By Kerteminde Fjord, you can step inside the royal Viking ship grave and experience firsthand the atmosphere of the heathen burial, designed to carry the king and all his possessions to Odins Valhalla. The Ladby Viking Museum is an attraction of international renown, but is a small and intimate countryside museum. The visit offers the unique experience of seeing the Viking ship grave in the ancient surrounding landscapes combined with a visit to the museum's exhibitions, where the story of the Viking king is unfolded through original archaeological artefacts. Finish of in the well stocked and cozy museum shop, the museum is sure to provide a memorable Viking experience.

ADD ON

The museum offers either On-Your-Own-Visits or Guided visits (with an English speaking guide). Duration of both visits are 2 hours, including time for shopping. You can also taste the museum's own brand of Viking-mead in the museum shop - only on closing days. Duration: 10 minutes.

FUN FACT

The Viking Museum Ladby is a museum for Denmark's only known Viking ship grave so far. Here is the story of the ship's grave from around age 925 AD, where a Viking king was buried in his magnificent Viking ship with rich and beautiful burial gifts - a funeral fit for a king.
