Høruphav

Høruphav offers two different sides of the harbour for diving and snorkelling and is ideal for family dives, among other things. Here you will find barbecue facilities, campfire sites and tent pitches, as well as Sydals' best shopping opportunities and the iconic Baltic Hotel.

The area is suitable for both scuba diving and snorkelling and offers good parking facilities and access to toilets.

As the area is located next to a marina, it is always recommended to use a surface marker when diving and snorkelling. Underwater hunting is permitted in the area.

Adress: Høruphav Havn 9, 6470 Sydals

Permits: Underwater hunting allowed.

Dangerous areas: Avoid diving near the entry and exit points of the marina.

Parking: On the east side of the harbour, parking is available at the bottom of the access road to the sea at the Kayak Club's floating bridge. For longer stays, the marked parking spaces at the boat hall can be used.

Accommodation: In tents on the green area on the west side of the harbour (free of charge). Hotel accommodation at the Baltic Hotel.

Toilet: Toilets are available at the harbour.

In and out of the water: On the east side of the harbour, you can use the floating bridge. Please note that it is reserved for kayakers, so show consideration.

The depth at the floating bridge is only 1½ metres, and there are no steps. You can easily get out of the water at the beach next to the floating bridge.

Diving routes: On the east side, you can both dive and snorkel along the stone pier. Please be aware not to dive past the entrance and exit to the marina at the end of the pier.

The location invites you to explore the water along the coast, where the depth ranges from 2 to 5 metres, depending on how far out you go.

For bottle divers, it is not worthwhile to go beyond a depth of 6 to 8 metres, as the seabed further out is limited due to many years of oxygen depletion in Lillehav.
